Database & Web Site Updates

Highlights from March 2012 – March 2013

- Ongoing ~ Indexing approvals, keeping track of journal issues indexing, social media monitoring, Web editing
- April 2012 ~ Quote for online chat feature requested; $750; idea dropped for now
- Search tip lines inserted above the search boxes; Enclose phrases "in quotation marks"; link to search tips page made
- 17/4/12 ~ CLC conference call ~ library directors, ICL and CLC officers
- Directors approved funding for ICL!
- AT-V and PH had first conference call with programmers to discuss details of ICL features

- May 2012 ~ AT-V provided screen shots of My NCBI to programmers and made suggestions for adapting this to My ICL; many e-mails between the Editors and the programmers followed
- Chiropractic Journal of Australia announced changes in its delivery; ICL Editors negotiated PDF versions for our indexer
- The McCoy Press journals suddenly changed their URLs; AT-V spent many hours changing URLs in ICL

- June 2012 ~ Programming for ICL put on hold; ICL was hacked!
- ICL restored from a backup, requiring over 80 hours of programming, for which we were not charged
- July 2012 ~ ICL hacked again, site went down; all admin userids and passwords were changed; ICL restored within 24 hours
- However, a number of features took more time to restore (contact form, social media feeds, abstract display, e-mailing records ...)

- By July 4, most problems were fixed; problems continued for 2 weeks, including no access by NYCC; BoomerCo Inc. did not charge for this extensive fix
- Site upgraded to WordPress v3.4.1, more secure
- August 2012 ~ ICL Editors requested an update on the programming for the My ICL project
- Clinical Chiropractic announced it will be discontinued but electronic issues will remain on the ScienceDirect site
- Journal of Scoliosis Rehabilitation, a new McCoy (OA) journal was announced (to date, only an editorial has been published)

- September 2012 ~ Programmers asked ICL editors to resume testing on My ICL
- Editors requested a popup box to remind users to sign in to ICL
- October 2012 ~ Editors asked the indexers and indexing committee to test My ICL
- Feedback resulted in revisions and My ICL went live on October 6; on October 10, we put announcements on the chirolib-l listserv and on all our social media
- Feedback from users resulted in more revisions; My ICL was working beautifully!

Database & Web Site Updates cont'd

- November 2012 ~ ICL was hacked again; fixed quickly
- December 2012 ~ Editors reported a problem with combining search statements; fixed the same day
- Indexers reported that the action buttons in the search form were faded and difficult to read; problem was fixed right away
- January 2013 ~ chiroindex.org secured for future (invoice not paid as of March 8)
- March 2013 ~ Extensive editing and upgrading of Web site was done by AT-V; new pages created; Site Meter coding was restored to all pages (it was removed during the upgrade); Editors prepared the annual report for ACC/RAC
- Hacked Contact Us form was restored
- Search tips moved back to home page; sitemap moved to home page, to highlight the extensive resources

My ICL / Search Tips

Register an account in My ICL and save your search histories (My Searches) and your collections of retrieved records (My Collections).

* Save ICL records: Select citations from Search Results or from Hold Citations; click Send to My Collections.

* Save search histories: In the Search History tab, select search statements; click Send to My Searches.

* Set up e-mailed alerts: When you save a search you are prompted to set up alerts that match your searches; you can even choose the day and frequency of e-mailed alerts.

Search Tip # 1: Search Boxes

From the pull-down menus beside the search boxes, type words or phrases in the default All Fields, or limit your search to specific fields.

The screenshot shows the My ICL interface. At the top, there are links for "Online Author Index" and "Online Subject Index". Below these are search input fields. The first field contains the text "Abdominal Muscles / physiopatho" and is labeled "Subject Keyword". To its right is a dropdown menu. Below the search fields are two more dropdown menus: one with "AND" and another with "All Fields". A large blue arrow points from the left towards a modal dialog box that appears over the search results. The dialog box contains the following text:

To use this feature you must register a personal account in My ICL. Registration is free! In My ICL you can save your ICL searches in My Searches, and you can save search results in My Collections. Be sure to use the Held Citations feature to collect citations from an entire search session. Read more search tips.

Below the text are two links: Sign Into Existing My ICL Account and Register A New My ICL Account.

The background shows the search results for the query "Abdominal Muscles / physiopatho". The results are displayed in a table with columns: Journal, ID, Article Title, and Author(s). There are 4 articles found. Below the table are buttons for "Display Abstracts", "List Citations", "Hold Citations", "Print", "Download", and "Send to My Collections". At the bottom, there is a form for sending an email with fields for "Email To", "Subject", and "Message", and a "Send" button.
